Sonnet XXX

*When to the sessions of sweet silent thought
I summon up remembrance of things past
I sigh the lack of many a things I lost
And with old woes new wail my dear time's waste:
Then can I drown an eye, unused to flow,
For precious friends hid in death's dateless night,
And weep afresh love's long since cancell'd woe,
And moan the expense of many a vanished sight:
Then can I grieve at grievances forgone,
And heavily from woe to woe tell o'er
The sad account of fore-bemoaned moan,
Which I new pay as if not paid before.
But if I think on thee, dear friend,
All losses are restored and sorrows end.*

—William Shakespeare

'Remembrance--remembrance of teachers who influenced us, of friendships formed, of good times shared--these are the recollections which will stay with us when the algebra equations and historical facts are long forgotten. The memories of talking with friends before classes, getting to know teachers, cramming for tests, grueling hours of band practice, and first love are what makes Northwest High School special to us. Northwest is more than just a school. It is a place where memories which we will carry with us all our lives are made. It is a place where we can be ourselves. William Shakespeare wrote Sonnet XXX more than 400 years ago, but his words convey truths which we find relevant today. Within the pages of this book are the memories we have made. One day, when the pressures of our lives bear down on us, we may pull this book off a dusty shelf and indulge ourselves in a moment of sweet silent thought of Northwest High School and the remembrance of things past.

Life at Northwest

"How beautiful is youth! how bright it
gleams
With its illusions...
aspirations,
beginnings,
Story without end,
Each maid a heroine,
and each man a friend!
All possibilities are in its hand
No danger daunts it; no
foe withstands;
In its sublime audacity
of faith."

Hitting the Books

It's a fact of life for students that, sooner or later, some studying has to be done. Most students at Northwest prefer to get their studying done during study hall in the cafeteria. Some students like to escape to the peaceful sanctuary of the library. Other students will grab any place they can find for some last minute cramming. However, for some hardcore procrastinators, no place is a good place to study.

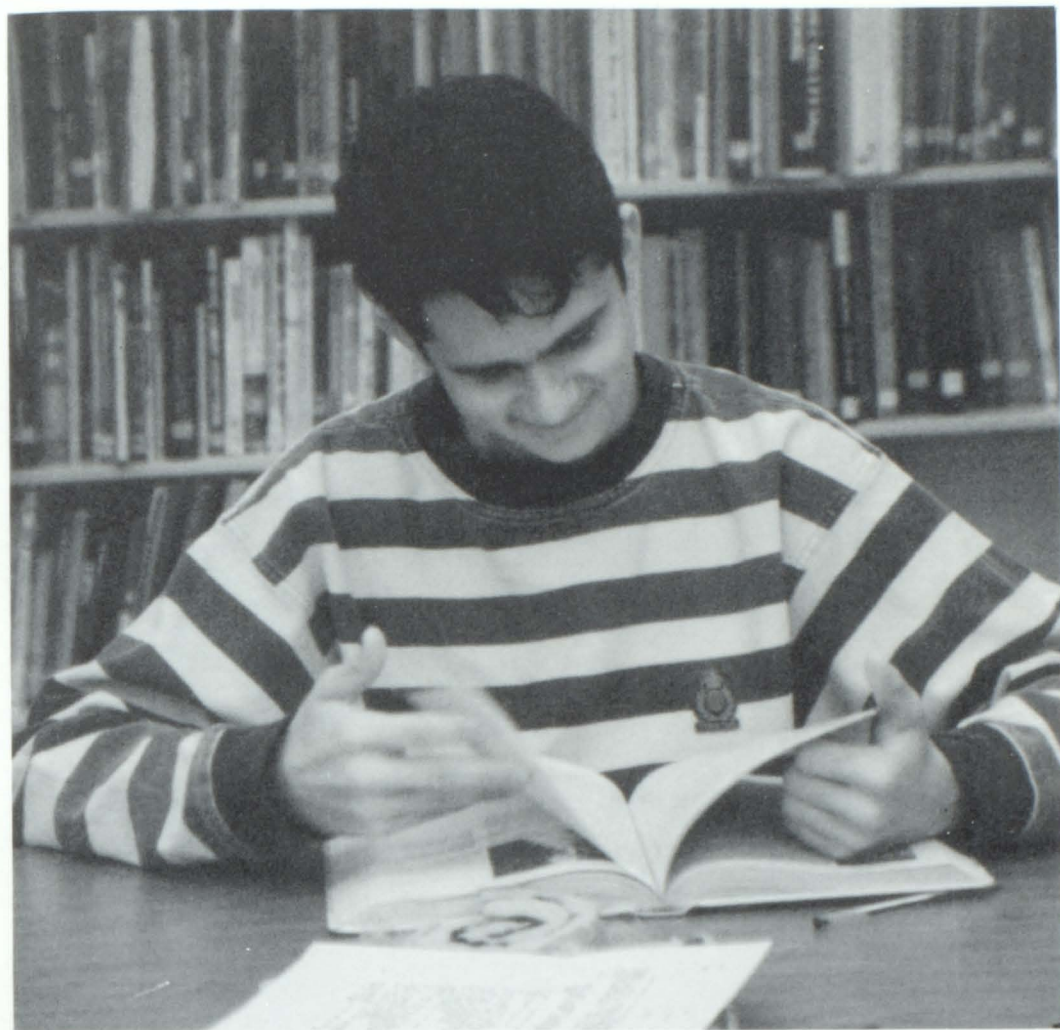

Shannon Porter and Amanda Stingel stop in the hall for some last-minute cramming.

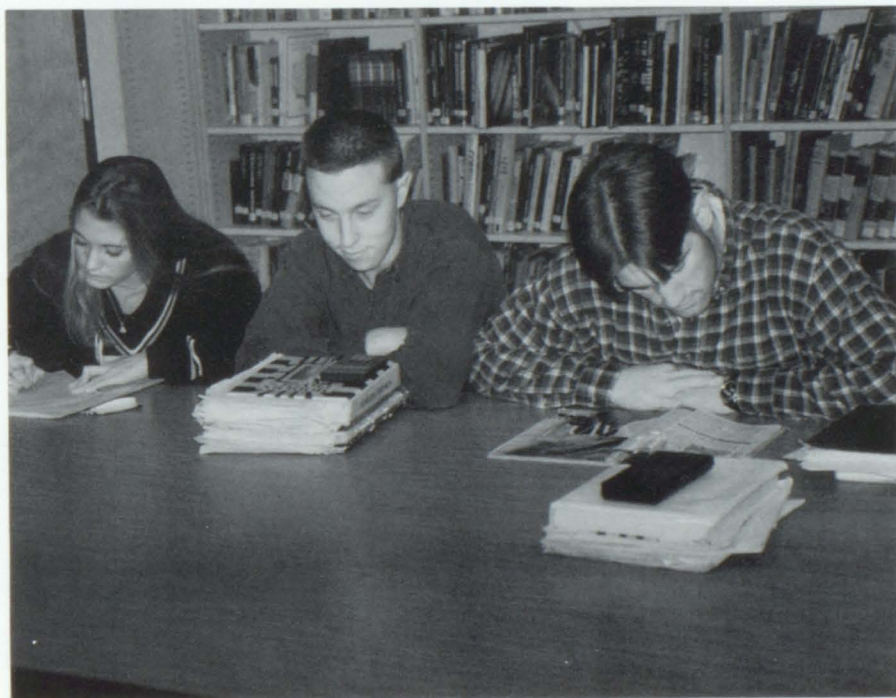

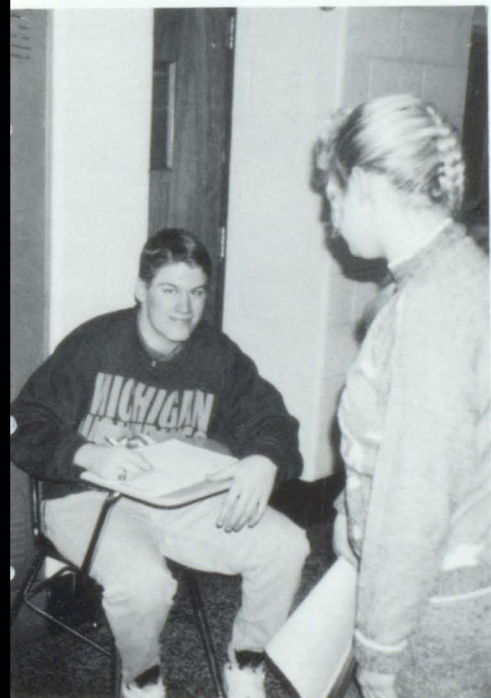

Shannon Hill, Amy Duplain, and Cassie Stahl study for their English Literature exam.

Scott Smith and Greg Farrance.

Dante Tropea flips through an interesting book in the library.

Joel Stephan (center) puts off studying while Micah Murray and Bob Basham study away.

Pep Assemblies

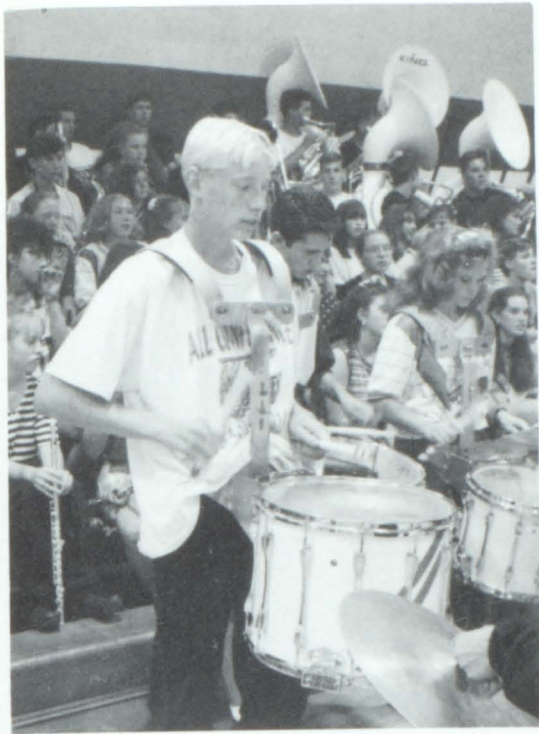

All students love pep assemblies. Some love them because they get out of class. But most students love pep assemblies because they get the opportunity to cheer for their team. Music from the band and special dance numbers by the cheerleaders contribute to the enthusiasm of the crowd.

Seniors get fired up.

The freshmen are filled with Indian pride.

◀Sophomore Brad Caster sets the beat.

Juniors cheer for their class.

Friends

Along with classes, tests, and studying, high school also means four years of hanging out with friends. The small size of Northwest High School means that almost everyone knows everyone else. This close-knit atmosphere brings together many friendships that can last a lifetime.

Funny Faces

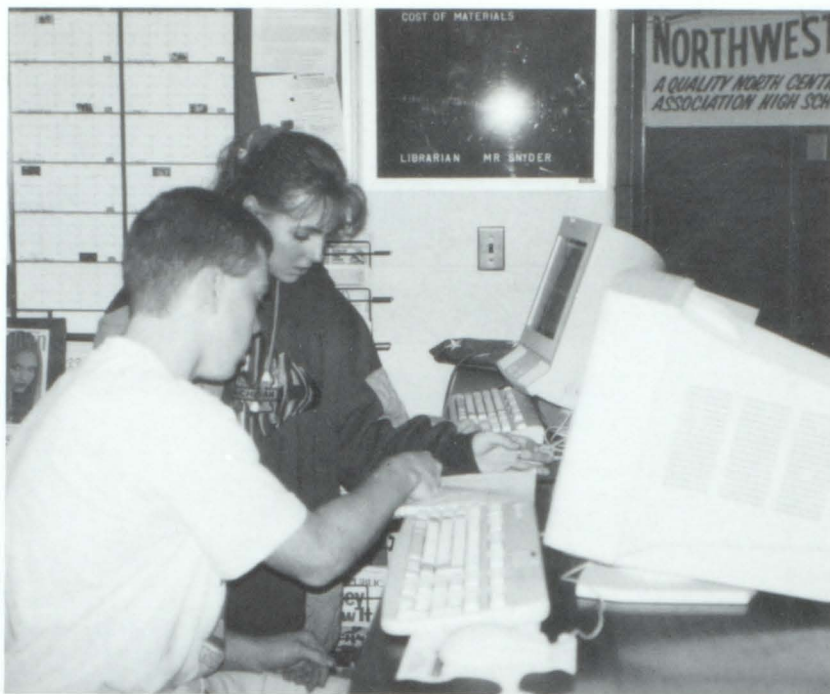

Technology

The passage of the operating levy by our community has given many advantages to our students this year, one of which was the partial funding of the Library Connectivity Project. The remainder of the monies for this project were provided by a grant funded through the Education Enhancement Partnership Funds for Library Automation, coordinated through Mr. Lambes, Mr. Hexamer, and Mrs. Little. This project enabled the Northwest High School library to become automated. A bar coding system was installed that allowed students to check out books and materials more efficiently.

With money from the operating levy, the board purchased a Power Mac and a Pentium PC. These computers include word processors, spread sheets, money management systems, desk top publishing capabilities, and much more. Students were able to get valuable technological experience by becoming familiar with these computers.

Heather Reedy and Matt Gaston try out the library's new computers.

Always ready to assist the students, Mr. Snyder, our librarian, helps Scott Shondel figure out how the new Power Mac works.

Foreign Exchange Student

Henrik Borgesen was this year's foreign exchange student at Northwest High School. His home is a small village in Denmark close to the city of Aarhus. Henrik stayed with host family Ray and Terry Arnold of Canal Fulton. In Denmark, Henrik lives with his parents and two brothers on a farm. He said what he missed most about Denmark was that his home land is very liberated. There are not as many rules and restrictions on young people as there seem to be here in the United States. Other than that, he has enjoyed his stay here. He says that Harleys, one of his special interests, are much more abundant in the United States and much less expensive. His future plans are to enlist in the army in his country and eventually join the police academy there.

Varsity Football

This year's season was a long and hard one for the Northwest Indians. Through all the disappointing losses, a hope for a brighter season next year shone through. The football team was made up of mostly underclassmen who got invaluable playing time and experience. Seniors also put forth a good effort, with Senior Dave Corbin being elected Most Valuable Player of the Year.

This year's golf team was blessed with beautiful fall weather. It was the first time Coach Rair could remember that not one match had to be cancelled due to rain. The weather wasn't the golf team's only asset. Ken Koprivec was voted Stark County Player of the Year, along with earning many other awards. Rob Bowman, a 4 year letterman, had a stroke average of 41.7. Josh Morgan earned the title of "best new golfer." Along with all the other great golfers on the team, our golf team ended up with a record of 6-9, which earned them fifth place in the NBC.

J.V. Volleyball

Our J.V. Volleyball players took some hard knocks this season ending with a record of 3-17, but that record doesn't reflect how much heart they put into their game. Even though the record was not what they would have liked, our J.V.'s gained much needed experience which will help them in later years to be ready for varsity action.

Here we go!

Yearbook Staff

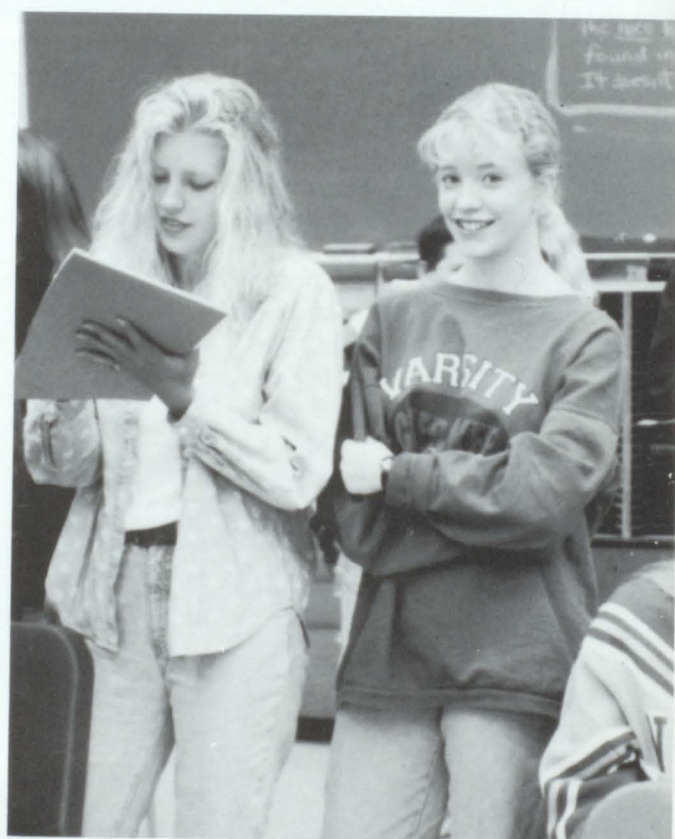

The Yearbook staff worked long and hard this year to produce what we hope will be an enjoyable and memorable book. Many staffers found the work too hard to stick with, but in the end, a few of the faithful survived. Senior Amy DuPlain and freshmen Robert Maurer and Erica Langenfeld worked diligently with Mrs. Crawford, the yearbook advisor, to create this year's book. We hope you like it!

Annie Get Your Gun

This year's musical, "Annie Get Your Gun," was full of talent and enthusiasm. The students went all out to bring Northwest High School quality entertainment. The musical included such time-honored tunes as "Anything You Can Do, I Can Do Better," "Doin' What Comes Naturally," and many more. Leads in this year's musical included Senior Aili Motter as "Annie Oakley," Senior Todd Schreiner as "Charlie Davenport," Sophomore Josh Albright as "Frank Butler," and Sophomore Katie Heim as "Dolly Tate." They were joined by 37 terrifically talented students who spent long hours rehearsing to put together one of the school's best musicals yet!

Band Heads to the Sun!

On April 16, 1995, the Northwest High School band, 2 directors, and 13 chaperones headed for Florida. This was the band's third trip to Florida, and it was one of their best trips yet! Every four years, the band takes a major trip so that each student who plays in the band will have the opportunity to go on a trip during their high school years. The trip cost $439 per student, which included hotel, transportation, most meals, and admission to Disney World, Epcot, and Universal Studios. The entire cost of the trip was $51,000. Much of this cost was defrayed by fund raisers such as selling citrus fruit, London's Easter candy, calendars, cheese and sausage, and Entertainment books. Having the fund raisers gave students the opportunity to "earn" their money instead of paying in cash.

The band visited Daytona Beach on the first day of their stay in Florida. Here they enjoyed not only the beautiful sand and surf, but they also visited the east coast's largest human maze!

The next day, the band stopped at Epcot Center to spread their Indian Pride throughout Orlando by performing in a parade around the lake in the middle of Epcot. They then spent the rest of the day exploring the theme park.

On the third day of the trip, the band members splashed away at "Wet N' Wild," which is a 15 acre water playground containing water slides, a wave pool, bubble machines, and a water roller coaster. Another highlight was the Medieval Times Dinner Theater where the band members dined "medieval style" while enjoying an authentic jousting contest.

The next stop was Disney's Fort Wilderness and a day at Magic Kingdom.

The last stop before home included Universal Studios, which is the biggest motion picture and television studio outside of Hollywood. It also included an awesome theme park to end a completely awesome spring break!

Danielle Prater, Shasta Staten, Kelly Litten, and Carrie Palmer buddy up with Mickey.

Graduation '95

...We've finished all our exams, all our classes; this is it... the pinnacle of our high school careers. The day we thought was unattainable, because it always seemed so far off. Graduation. (All excerpts taken from Valerie Kocsis' valedictory speech.)

...But we will never forget the things that we have truly learned here. We've learned how to react with others, and to create relationships that develop into strong friendships...we have found a piece of ourselves that we will build upon for years to come.

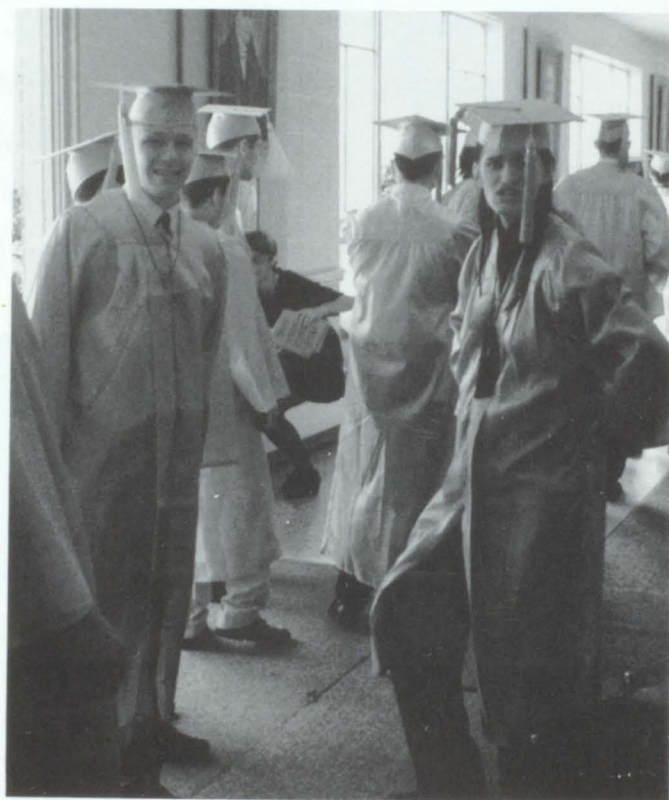

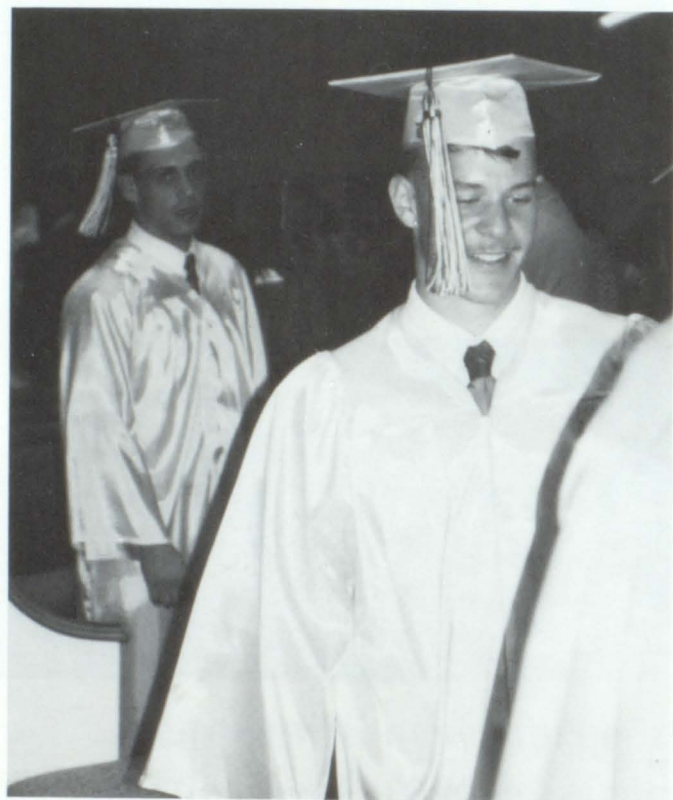

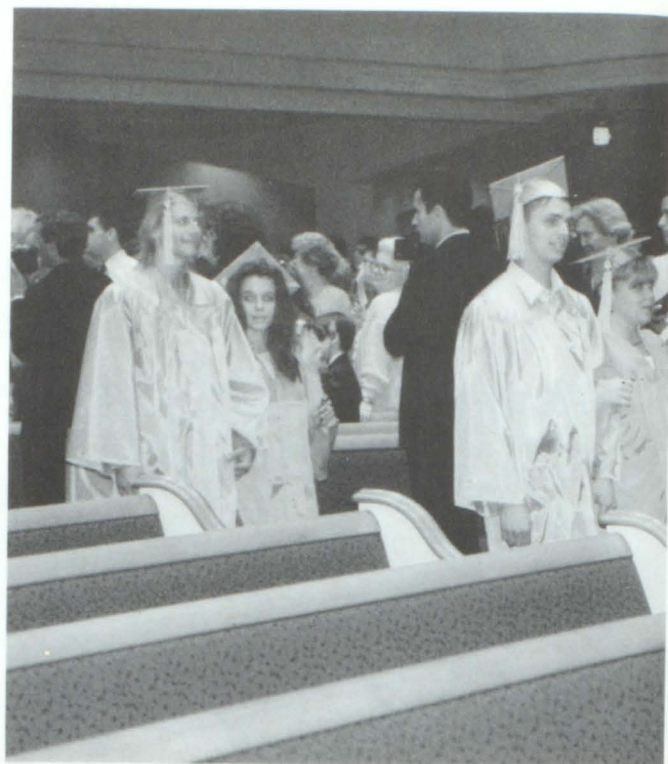

You can be or do anything, there are no limitations to your future except for those which you place there yourself. You may be a Nobel prize winner, the first person to walk on Mars, or even a researcher on the team that discovers a cure for AIDS.

...move forward into your future, believe in yourself,
and use your abilities to create a world that is more fascinating for those who are yet to follow.
