My Teacher Said ...

A little of you lives in every child with whom you come in contact ... Great is your influence, for you have contributed to the development of every advance in medicine and science. You speak in every courtroom and every pulpit. Your voice is heard in every song and your influence is felt in every painting You live in the pages of every book that has ever been written. You ride into space with every astronaut. You live in every home and speak through every child at every dinner table ... when the child says, "My teacher said . WALK PROUDLY- YOU ARE A TEACHER
