In Appreciation

As the days have grown to weeks, the weeks to months and the months have rolled themselves into the years, the class of '39 has arrived at the parting of the ways. Our associations here at Fulton with teachers and fellow students have been happy ones and all have left their impressions upon us. However, none have been more deeply imprinted or will be more lasting than the friendship, the hope, and the inspiration that have been instilled in us by our patroness, Miss Fletcher.

Senior Class

As memory wanders back over our four years of high school life, we faintly recall the bewilderment of those freshman days, our false conceptions as sophomores and more vividly our sophistication as juniors. With departure becoming a reality, we nonchalant seniors look back on our high school career visualizing with pangs of regret those lost opportunities. So now—Fulton we take our leave of you, trusting that those who succeed us may better appreciate the privileges you offer and, secure in the knowledge that you will continue to furnish an intangible, vital, something to countless generations after us.

Band

Our band has again tooted its way through a most successful season under the batonage of Mr. Puffenberger. Such was its box office appeal that one wondered whether the band performance or the athletic contest was the attraction to spectators. Our Spring Concert which was given in April proved our worth as a concert band. The highlight of our season was the trip to Kent where we earned an "excellent" rating in the district contest.

Orchestra

When the fourth period study hall began to swing and sway last spring to the strains of "Mexicali Rose" or "I'm An Old Cowhand" the cause was traced to the orchestra in one of its lighter moods. Playing in a more serious mood, our orchestra adds that certain touch necessary to all class plays, Christmas services and the solemnities of graduation. The climax of its season was its part in the annual Spring Concert.

Glee Club

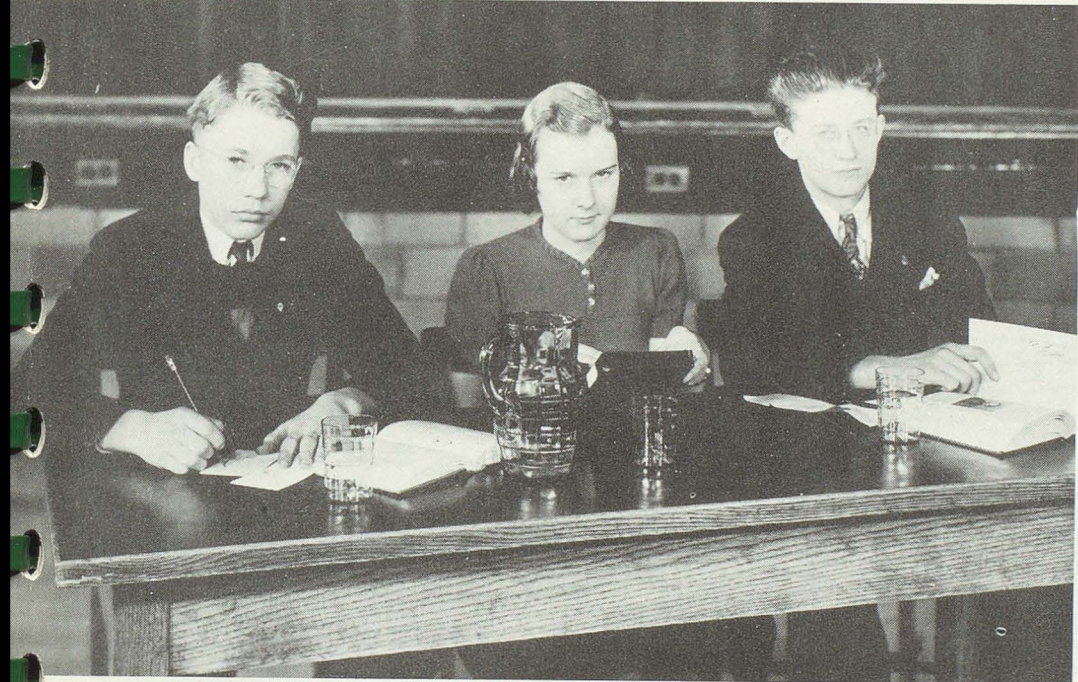

Every Wednesday has found this ambitious group of prospective Crosbys and Durbins stunting their growth on the high C's of musical meanderings. The glee club's appearances throughout the year are greeted with increasing anticipation and their selections at the Spring Concert were highly appreciated.

These knights of the plowshare comprise the Fulton Chapter of the Future Farmers of America, a national organization whose purpose is the fostering of interest in agriculture and the development of leadership and character in farm youth. With Mr. Rinkes in an advisory capacity, the club has become a thriving organization and shows promise of being one of our strongest extra-curricular activities.

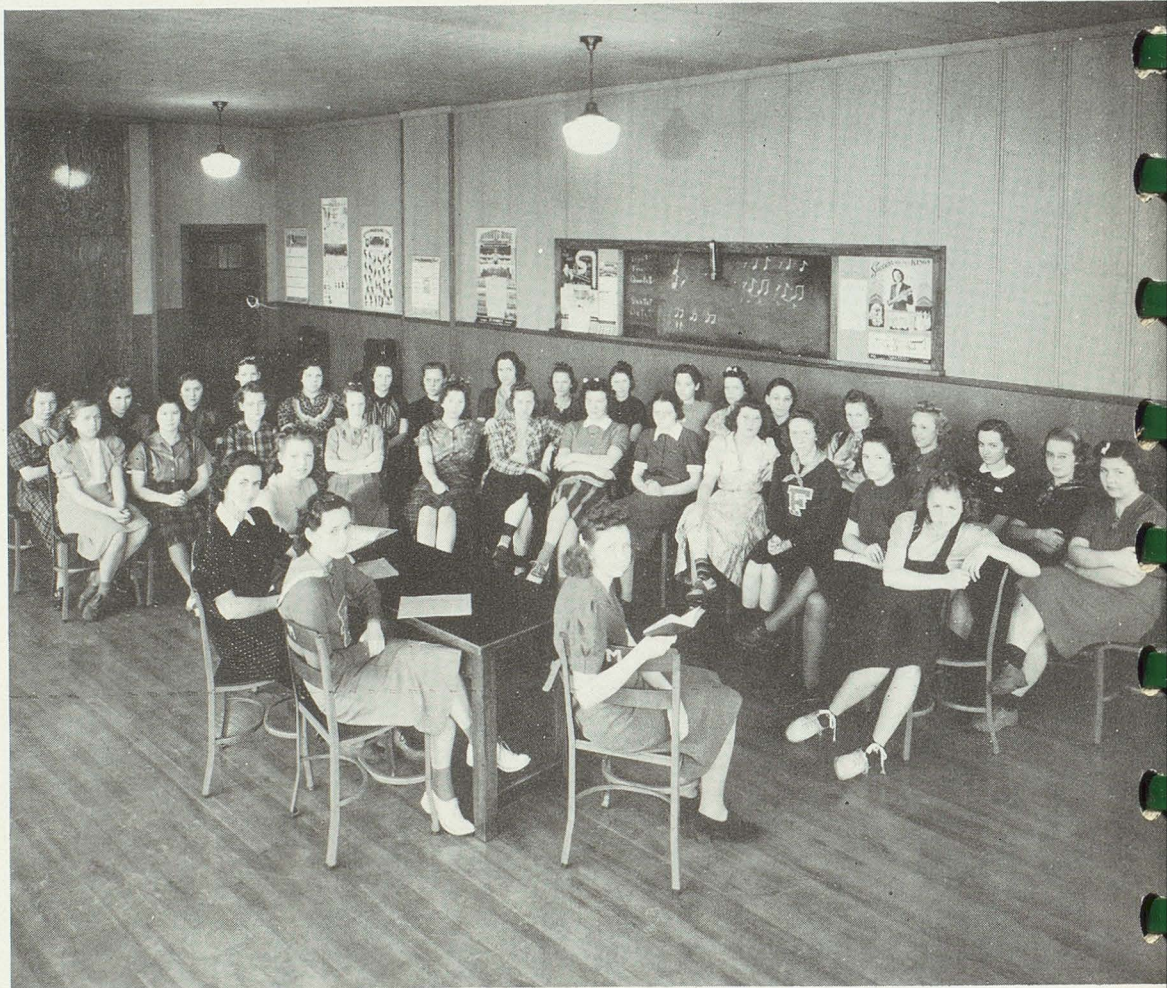

Projectors

Confronted with the problem of directing the visual education department, Mr. Rinkes initiated the projectors club, a new organization in our school. Eight boys rose to the occasion and thanks to them and their advisor every department of the school has had access to films touching upon its particular interests.

Girl Reserves

Some thirty-five of Canal Fulton's most spirited and charming young ladies have been members of Girl Reserve club this past term. Their plans for the year were most ambitious, on the serious side—vocational speakers—on the service side—the Christmas projects and needed accessories for the school, and socially—several dances, parties and a tea. Suffice it to say, the end of the year finds these ambitions quite well met.

Hi-Y

Perhaps to underclassmen the Hi-Y boys appear only as stumbling scripture-readers with no other thought in mind than hurrying through the next few verses of the morning reading. However the real purpose of the club is to mold the characters of high school boys and to instill in them certain high ideals. Under the leadership of Mr. Selch, our club has advanced to a prominent position among extra-curricular activities.

Football

The Heim-men sidestepped and snakehipped their way through the 1938 schedule adding another most satisfactory season to the annals of Fulton football history. When the squad reported in the fall minus the seven veterans lost by graduation the prospects for a winning eleven looked dim, but, as the season progressed, the gridders under the tutelage of Coach "Nip" Heim hit their stride and finished their schedule with a record of six victories, two defeats and one tie. Let's give a "Yea team" as a final tribute to these warriors.

As the excitement of our first state championship died away last spring, fans began to consider prospects for the season of 1938-1939. Dire prophecies flew thick and fast among even our most loyal followers. But with the advent of the 1939 season the most optimistic of prophets were agreeably surprised. The team hit their stride and by mid-season again ranked among the top clubs in the state. Then came catastrophe—two veterans collided during practice and their injuries incapacitated them for the remainder of the campaign. From that time on the team steadily declined and by tournament time lacked the necessary punch to carry them through to Kent. However no other team in the history of the school has ever attracted more spectators or provided as many thrills as these valiant lads who fought against such odds.

Jokes

Dolores Miller at the basketball game:

"I believe I've lost my voice."

Harriet Kittinger: "Don't worry, you'll find it in my left ear."

"Before I heard the doctors tell
The dangers of a kiss
I had considered kissing you
The nearest thing to bliss
But now I know Biology
And sit and sigh and moan,
Six million mad bacteria--
And I thought we were alone!"

"Your sky here is much clearer than in London,"
said the English visitor.

"Sure," replied the New York taxi driver, "we have sky scrapers here."

"So you desire to become my son-in-law."

"No, I don't. But if I marry your daughter, I don't see how I can get out of it."

I like an exam,
I think they're fun,
I never cram,
And I won't flunk one--
I'm the teacher.

I wish to thank the public and the school for the patronage they have extended to me during 1938 and hope I can be of the same service during 1939.

PRACTICAL TRAINING

is the connecting link between knowledge and profitable employment.

Your high school course has given you a wonderful fund of knowledge.

But don't stop at that. Add practical training now in some field which will prepare you for a worthwhile position.

A business training course places you in a preferred class in the eyes of the employer seeking efficient help. Act now while your mental processes are most alert.

We prepare you for stenographic, secretarial and executive positions.

Jokes

Mr. Selch: "What did the Federal government do with Negroes who fled to the North during the Civil War?"

John Sisler: "They put them in Union Suits."

Miss Fletcher: "Can you type?"

Madeline Vaughn: "Yes, I use the Columbus system."

Miss F.: "What's that?"

Madeline: "I discover a key and then land on it."

Harry Eicher: "Why do you always take off your hat when I tell a joke?"

Tub Shook: "That's my way of greeting old acquaintances."

A rookie soldier was passing the mess hall, and decided he would like to know what was to be served for dinner that night.

"What's on the menu tonight?" he asked the cook.

"Oh, we have thousands of things to eat tonight," the cook replied.

"What are they?" the rookie asked.

"Beans," said the cook.
